

SCOTT WILL VOTE FOR BOND ISSUE

Joins Lee and Wise Counties in Movement for Better Highways.

No more striking demonstration of the marvelous recent growth of the good roads spirit in Virginia could be found than the fact that within the next few weeks elections will be held in three counties in the Southwest alone, which, if resulting favorably to bond issues, will just about equal the total issuance of bonds for this purpose in the entire State from the beginning of the movement to this time. These three counties are Lee, Scott and Wise. The comparison made is strengthened when it is remembered that similar elections are pending in Amherst and Warren counties for smaller though by no means insignificant amounts.

State Highway Commissioner Wilson learned yesterday morning that an election has been ordered in Scott county for a bond issue of $300,000, the proceeds to be used in building permanent highways in the mountain county. Scott is the latest addition to the counties which have recently begun talking in large figures about improving their roads.

Make All Roads Good.
News from Lee is to the effect that the prospects for the success of the bond issue proposition there are excellent. This county propose to float securities to the value of $450,000, with which it is intended to macadamize all the principal roads in the county and in addition to improve other highways. The splendid macadam road running between Jonesville, the county seat, and Ben Hur, a station on the Louisville and Nashville Railroad, has proven a valuable object lesson.

The election in Lee will be held on November 23. Of the total of $264,000, $65,000 is to be expended in Rose Hill

District, $39,000 in Jonesville District, $100,000 in Rocky Station District and $110,000 in Yoakum Station District. Naturally, the biggest proposition of all—that of Wise county to issue $700,000 in bonds—occupies the centre of the stake. It will be decided at the polls on November 28, one day ahead of the Lee county election. Indications are that it will be carried. The forthcoming report of the State Highway Commission will show that during the year ending October 1 about 125 miles of roads were built, with an average length of two miles each. It will also show that up to this date about $1,400,000 has been raised for good roads by local bond issues, while three counties will vote shortly on a total of $1,364,000, and five counties will vote before the end of the year on $1,549,000.

HOLLAND WILL WIN WITHOUT TROUBLE

Majority of Candidate Likely to Be Unprecedentedly Great.

PRIMARY TALK IS HEARD

Result May Be Legalized Elections by People of Delegates to Conventions.

Dating from the moment of the nomination of Senator E. E. Holland for Congress by the Suffolk convention on Wednesday, the Second District of Virginia retired for some time to come from the front pages of the newspapers of the State. There is not the slightest doubt in the mind of any person that Senator Holland will be elected by an overwhelming majority. His election is as certain as is that of Captain Lamb in the Third District.

The rural counties of the Second will, it is believed, take especial pleasure in rulling up for the Nansemond Senator an unusually big majority. His personal popularity and local pride in having the first Congressman in many years from outside of the cities assures this. In fact, it was frankly admitted by the Holland people during the convention that Republicans in Suffolk took part in last Friday's primary, voting for Senator Holland. In every instance they were said to be men of standing, whose solemn obligation to support the nominee, as printed on the ballots, will be faithfully observed by them.

Norfolk on the Job.
Then there will be no defection in Norfolk. Whatever may be said of James V. Trehy, no one can remember a time when he broke his word or failed to keep his promise.

His pledge to the convention that Senator Holland should secure the full Democratic majority of Norfolk makes it as assured as any political outlook can be. As to Portsmouth, while no one doubts Mr. Maynard's loyalty to the party nominee, there may be some falling off in the total Democratic vote, but none of it will go to Mr. Rumble.

In Richmond yesterday the selection of Senator Holland by the convention met with almost universal satisfaction. While in many quarters much sympathy was expressed for Mr. Young, there was hardly a dissenting voice to the proposition that the strongest man had been named and that the future of the party in the Second District was fully assured.

In the light of calmer reasoning, with the strain of the convention and its scenes past, the proposition as to the legalization of primaries, as so often mentioned during the long session, assumes to those who attended a somewhat different light. It is regarded as notable that while the convention declared for a legalized primary it did not say what the plan of such primaries should be. Mr. Trehy's objection was not so much to a convention, but to the sort of convention which was being held, and which had resulted in a deadlock. In his speech following the nomination John C. Parker, the Holland leader, said that it would be unfortunate if in legalizing primaries conventions should be forever abolished, for such meetings gave contending factions opportunities to get together, to adjust their differences amicably, and to find a way out of trouble such as was found by this convention.

It is regarded as not at all improbable that in view of the unusually happy result, with everybody going home happy and with the district better solidified for the party than it has been for many years, that a system by which primaries should be held for the election of delegates to a convention might meet favor. Not, however, the sort of convention which has just been held, in which the delegates were named by the candidates and were under obligations to them. Several of the State's most prominent Democrats said yesterday that they regarded the Suffolk gathering as the most shall have gone through with the inevitable process of cooling off.

Of course, it is still natural to look to the future, and to speculate on the result of the recent troubles in the Second District on the party throughout the State. It has already been said that no just and comprehensive survey of the situation can be made until recent passions have subsided and until those who have been the most excited and have talked the most shall have gone with the inevitable process of cooling off.

A well-known Virginian who returned from Norfolk last night, where he spent the day, predicted that the Second District would give Holland a larger majority on November 8 than has ever been accorded to any candidate in the history of the district.

GREAT STUART DAY IN BLAND COUNTY

Hundreds Greet Nominee. Speeches by Martin and Swanson.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Bland, Va., October 20.—As was said of the great Stuart day in Giles last week yesterday was the greatest political day in Bland county since the days of Fitzhugh Lee.

H. C. Stuart, after speaking at Dublin Tuesday, came over to Bland yesterday morning in company with C. N. Otey, senatorial chairman; Senators Martin and Swanson, and many other friends, and the now famous Wabash Band. He was met at the station by a large party of at least 400 people on horseback, and in all kinds of vehicles, led by the Bland Band, forming a regular Fitzhugh Lee parade. They escorted him to Bland, where he was met by at least 1,200 or 1,300 people, which was about one-fourth of the entire population of the county.

Immediately Senator Martin was introduced by Dr. J. N. Walker, and, as is his usual custom, he dealt in solid facts and figures in such a way as to impress the people with the great importance of a change in the affairs of the nation. This was his first visit to Bland, and he was received cordially and made a fine impression on the people, doing great good for Stuart.

Next Mr. Stuart was introduced by Dr. J. A. Waggoner.

He received an ovation. He spoke for nearly an hour, when it began to rain, and it being suggested that he suspend for dinner, this was done.

The women of the county had prepared and brought to town a dinner that would do credit to any occasion, which was spread on tables prepared for the purpose, where everybody was fed.

After dinner Mr. Stuart resumed his speech. Never before have the people been more anxious to hear a speaker, and never before have speeches been more effective than those being made by Henry Stuart, and never before were a people more determined to win. About the time he finished rain set in again, and the crowd was notified to repair to the courthouse, to hear Senator Swanson, and as many as could get in the courthouse immediately followed him. The courtroom, not being large enough, a great many people were compelled to remain on the outside.

Senator Swanson was introduced by County Chairman George T. Byrd. Senator Swanson is a prime favorite in Bland county. When he ran for Governor he lost only eight votes in the primary, and no man in Virginia has a greater influence with the people here than Swanson. In his speech to-day he made telling blows against standpat Republicans, speaking in the highest terms of the great work done by Henry Stuart on the Corporation Commission while he (Swanson) was Governor. In alluding to the insurgent movement in the nation and in the Ninth District, he made a happy allusion to the time in Virginia when Captain Samuel H. Newberry, of this county, together with Hale, Lybrook and Williams, rebelled against the tyranny of the machine regime and saved Virginia from untold woes, then about to be forced upon her people. Bland will give Stuart a majority.

WILL GO TO JURY TO-DAY.

Evidence All In and Arguments Begin in Carlton Trial.

Bristol, Va., October 20.—In the trial of the Carlton family, at Blountville, for the murder of Arthur Howard, of Bristol, the prosecution to-day introduced a number of witnesses with a view of impeaching certain witnesses for the defense who had testified with references to alleged threats made against the Carltons by Howard. The argument was begun this evening. The case will go to the jury at noon Friday.

Nature's Gift from the Sunny South

Cottolene

Doughnut Day is enjoyed by all the family without fear of future disaster

There are two kinds of doughnuts—

There's the lard-laden doughnut that is heavy, soggy and lies like lead in the stomach—that's the old-fashioned kind. Steer clear of it; it's the lard that makes it indigestible, not the cook.

Then there's the crisp, flaky, richly browned doughnut, that almost melts in your mouth, yet without the suspicion of greasiness. This kind is made with Cottolene, a vegetable product that makes food that even a child can digest with ease.

You never knew real doughnut goodness until you try the kind made with Cottolene.

Cottolene is much purer and more wholesome than lard.

Made only by THE N. K. FAIRBANK COMPANY

Never Sold in Bulk

Cottolene is packed in pails with an air-tight top, to keep it clean, fresh and wholesome, and prevent it from catching dust and absorbing disagreeable odors, such as fish, oil, etc.

POOL OF 1910 CROP HAS BROKEN DOWN

Auction of 120,000,000-Pound 1909 Pool of Burley Society in Lexington Declared Off, and Tobacco May Be Sold in Cincinnati.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Lexington, Ky., October 20.—Failure of the farmers of the Burley tobacco belt of Kentucky to stand together for a pool of the 1910 crop has broken down. After three efforts by the management of the Burley Tobacco Society and others to secure pledges of a sufficient percentage of the crop for a pool to be declared had proved dismal failures, and the farmers are now racing for the market, which has so far proved very strong, at prices ranging from 12 cents upward.

The market will be formally opened in Lexington, the largest loose leaf market in the world, October 25, while the hoghead markets at Louisville and prices, but the scheme was met by the trust with one still cleverer, and hundreds of buyers were rushed into the field, growing or freshly cut tobacco was bought, in many cases unseen, at 12 and 12 1/2 cents, and the pool for 1910 was overthrown, and a few days later was formally declared off by the Burley Society.

A movement for a complete cut out of the 1911 crop has now been started by the leaders of the Burley Society, and will probably be partially successful. The success of this movement will depend almost entirely, however, on what are the prevailing prices on the market this winter, and if they are fairly good the cut-out plan for 1911 will probably be abandoned, but if the trust forces prices very low this winter because there is no pool, and all the tobacco is on the market, there will probably be an almost complete cut-out of the 1911 crop. It is thought, however, that the trust will be too wise to allow prices to become very low this season, but will wait for 1912 and a big crop to recoup from the farmers.

SHERIFF CHASES FUGITIVE THROUGH FIVE STATES

Man Wanted for Assault in Virginia Is Captured After Chase in Philadelphia.

Philadelphia, October 20.—Chased through five States, after it is alleged, he had jumped his bail in Franklin, Va., Erwin E. Thompson Jones, fifty-five years old, of that city, was arrested in this city last night by Detectives Doyle and Lestrangle and Deputy Sheriff T. G. Gilles, of Accomac county, Va.

Jones is now under indictment in Franklin for having, it is alleged, jumped his bail and left Franklin. His bondsman, Ira B. Hancock, of the same city, learned of his disappearance shortly afterward, and, accompanied by the deputy sheriff of the county, pursued him. At Salisbury, Md., they got on the track of Jones, and he was held under $500 bail for court on a charge of aggravated assault and battery.

Several days ago Jones, it is alleged, jumped his bail and left Franklin. His bondsman, Ira B. Hancock, of the same city, learned of his disappearance shortly afterward, and, accompanied by the deputy sheriff of the county, pursued him. At Salisbury, Md., they got on the track of Jones, and he was held under $500 bail for court on a charge of aggravated assault and battery.

At Chestertown, Md., the pair caught sight of their man, who crossed the railroad tracks in front of an express train which flashed by, and left the place on an outbound train before his pursuers could take steps to capture him. He was traced to this city, where the detectives located him at 255 North Twelfth Street and arrested him. He was locked up in the Central Police Station pending a hearing.

HELD IN RALEIGH JAIL.
Alleged Pickpocket, Claiming to Be from Richmond, Arrested.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Raleigh, N. C., October 20.—Police Justice Strongach is holding in Wake jail the alleged pickpocket, W. H. Hamilton, claiming to be a traveling man from Richmond, in default of $500 bond for Superior Court trial. Letters were found on him by the police that indicate that his real name is William T. Jones. He has medical prescriptions and other articles that show that he has been in Boston and Montreal, Can., recently.

Able counsel has been retained for him, and there are indications that strong friends are working for him under cover. The expectation is that the bond will be given later. This is the only arrest made thus far of an alleged professional pickpocket in connection with the State Fair.

Geta Degree of LL. D.
[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Salisbury, N. C., October 20.—L. D. Clement, of Salisbury, was to-day notified that the Pennsylvania College, at Gettysburg, Pa., has conferred upon him the degree of LL. D. Mr. Clement, who is president of the North Carolina Bar Association, is now at Gettysburg, where the distinction was formally conferred by his alma mater, from which he graduated in 1874.

BRUTAL MURDER BY UNKNOWN MAN

Yard Conductor for Virginian Railway in Roanoke Slashed to Pieces.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Roanoke, Va., October 20.—M. M. Spence, yard conductor for the Virginian Railway in this city, was murdered by an unknown man at noon to-day in the western end of town, and although bloodhounds were on the scene two hours after the killing, they failed to take the scent, and so far there is no clue to the identity of the conductor's slayer.

Spence was seen by a fellow-workman fifteen minutes before his dead body was discovered in a pool of blood with the jugular vein severed, and the face and hands cut into ribbons.

One man says he saw Spence and another man, whom he did not know, talking together on the railroad yard earlier in the day, and that they were quarreling. There was evidence of a terrible struggle.

Spence was married two months ago to Miss Alice Himes, who was stenographer to the City Engineer. He was twenty-five years old and popular.

N. & W. to Build Engines.
[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Roanoke, Va., October 20.—The Norfolk and Western Railway Company to-day started work on the building of five freight engines in its own locomotive plant, just completed here. The road has never before built an engine.

River Improvement Begins.
[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Onancock, Va., October 20.—The improvement of Onancock River under the appropriation made at the last session of Congress was begun yesterday. Dredging machines is at work on the bar. Shallow and narrow places in the river will also be deepened, and navigation greatly improved.

WHAT'S THE USE To Keep a "Coffee Complexion."

A lady says: "Postum has helped my complexion so much that my friends say I am growing young again. My complexion used to be coffee colored, muddy and yellow, but it is now clear and rosy as when I was a girl."

"I was induced to try Postum by a friend who had suffered just as I had suffered from terrible indigestion, palpitation of the heart and sinking spells. After I had used Postum a week I was so much better that I was afraid it would not last. But now two years have passed and I am a well woman. I owe it all to leaving off coffee and drinking Postum in its place."

"I had drank coffee all my life. I suspected that it was the cause of my trouble, but it was not until I actually quit coffee and started to try Postum that I became certain; then all my troubles ceased and I am now well and strong again."

"There's a reason." Look in pke. for the famous little book, book "The Road to Wellville." Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true and full of human interest.

Not For Men

To Get Relief

When a woman's nervous and physical systems are tired out—worn out—they need something more than mere food, to refresh them.

They need medicines—tonic, herb products, which act as Nature planned they should do, in helping along the functions of life, when ordinary methods fail.

Cardui is not for men. There are many good medicines and tonics for men—but Cardui is only for women—its ingredients and its action make it so.

We know what Cardui will do for tired, worn-out, sick, miserable women, because we know what it has done. What it has done for others, it will surely do for you.

Cardui can be depended upon to help you, if you will give it a fair trial. Consisting only of pure, vegetable ingredients, it has nothing harmful in its composition, but acts, gently, and in a natural way, upon the womanly organs, and has been found, in thousands of cases, to restore sick women to health, after other medicines had failed.

Mrs. Margaret L. Pheral, of Newburg, Ind., writes: "I had sick headache, continuous hurting in my side; was always tired, and, every month, had such pains, I could hardly stand. I was treated by the best doctors in our town for more than a year, without any help. At last, I took Cardui, and it worked wonders. Before I had taken one bottle, I felt better. Now I feel better than in two years, and owe it all to Cardui."

Try Cardui, it will help you. Sold by 40,000 druggists. Get a bottle today.
